The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1; line 2, "frame holes" are referred to, however only one hole 13 is present, please clarify, in line 3, what does "to the wall end" mean, line 4 refers to "a fillister installed", what does "installed" mean and "wall mount" lacks antecedent basis, in line "connector ends" is inferential, line 8, what does "set on" mean, all instances of broken English are required to be corrected. In claim 2, "sideling taper" fails to particularly point out the invention.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tisdall.

See mount 40, having a hole to accept rod 14, the fillister is the bore which accepts bolt 48, see frame 30 and through hole in frame 30, best viewed in Fig. 2.

Claims 2-3 with the 112 issues resolved would appear to define patentable subject matter.

Pan shows another rod connector.
